[ELIZABETH CARTER]

"A Riddle"

Nor form nor substance in my being share,
I'm neither fire nor water, earth nor air;
From motion's force alone my birth derive,
I ne'er can die, for never was alive:
And yet with such extensive empire reign, 5
That very few escape my magick chain.
Nor time nor place my wild excursions bound,
I break all order, nature's laws confound;
Raise schemes without contrivance or design,
And make apparent contradictions join: 10
Transfer the Thames where Ganges' waters roll,
Unite th' equator to the frozen pole;
Midst Zembla's ice bid blushing rubies glow,
And British harvests bloom in Scythian snow;
Cause trembling flocks to skim the raging main, 15
And scaly fishes graze the verdant plain;
Make light descend, and heavy bodies rise,
Stars sink to earth, and earth ascend the skies.
If nature lie deform'd in wintry frost,
And all the beauties of the spring be lost, 20
Rais'd by my pow'r new verdure decks the ground,
And smiling flow'rs diffuse their sweets around.
The sleeping dead I summon from the tomb,
And oft anticipate the living's doom;
Convey offenders to the fatal tree, 25
When law or stratagem have set them free.
Aw'd by no checks, my roving flight can soar
Beyond imagination's active pow'r;
I view each country of the spacious earth,
Nay visit realms that never yet had birth, 30
Can trace the pathless regions of the air,
And fly with ease beyond the starry sphere;
So swift my operations, in an hour

I can destroy a town, or build a tow'r.
Play tricks would puzzle all the search of wit, 35
And show whole volumes that were never writ.
In sure records my mystick powr's confest,
Who rack'd with cares a haughty tyrant's breast,
Charg'd in prophetick emblems to relate
Approaching wrath, and his peculiar fate. 40
Oft to the good by heav'n in mercy sent,
I've arm'd their thoughts against some dire event;
As oft in chains presumptuous villains bind,
And haunt with restless fears the guilty mind.
