“Hymen’s Triumph, a Poem”

On the Marriage of Rev. Mr Richard Beauchamp to Miss Juliana Keatinge, Dublin, May 5, 1743

Once, Hymen, abus’d for the matches he made,
(Since beauty was barter’d, and wedlock a trade)
By Pallas instructed to pitch on a pair,
Join’d Dick the facetious to Julia the fair.

So true was his passion, so decent her carriage, Â

Not even Diana could censure the marriage.
Apollo was charm’d with her mind, and his parts,
And tun’d the soft notes of his lute by their hearts:

The muses in chorus obey’d his command,
And hymn’d to graces, who danc’d hand in hand. Â
Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â 10

The birds of the grove from the branches above
Sang spousal, and chatter’d the tidings of love.

To gather a garland, the nymphs and the fauns
Dismantled the meadows, the vallies and lawns:
The gay, living colours by Flora were wreath’d, Â

And Zephyr cool-sigh’d to the odour she breath’d.

Vertumnus was present in garment of green,
And thus gayly spoke to the bloom-bearing queen.

“Now the nymphs and the fauns may lavishly bring
The paintings of nature, and pride of the spring, Â

Fair emblems of beauty! Vertumnus employs

The season, to ripen more delicate joys,
Rich omens of issue! with blossoms you suit
The virgin; but I shall adorn her with fruit.”

Then Mercury said, as he look’d on the bride

With an envious eye, calling Venus aside,
“Alas, idle maid! what a part hath she acted,
To wed with a parson? “it makes me distracted:
My measures are broken, my purposes crost:
I meant her a lord” - but her market is lost. 30

Her sisters are like her: She gives us a sample,
And copies exactly her mother's example:
It flows from the fountain: Her blood must inherit
This oddness of chusing out men for their merit.

Well, since she rejected the baits of my store 35

Adieu to the pleasures of Sweet Nora more

Quoth Venus, "You have little cause to repine,
The chief disappointment and anguish are mine,
You meant her a title of honour and pence,
I meant her a beau — but she truckled to sense."

40

I long since might know, she would baffle my sport,
For, brother, I never could bring her to court.
Yet Cupid, to whom I committed her beauty,
Was blindly defective in doing his duty."

"Arraign not thy Cupid, glad Hymen replies, 45

"For once he hath shewn, that his godship has eyes."
