

Soame Jenyns, "The Modern Fine Gentleman"

Description

SOAME JENYNS

• The Modern Fine Gentleman •

Written in the Year 1746

*Quale Portentum neque militaris
Daunia in latis alit esculetis,
Ned Jube tellus generat, leonum
Arida nutrix.*

JUST broke from school, pert, impudent, and raw,
Expert in Latin, more expert in law,
His Honour posts o'er Italy and France,
Measures St. Peter's dome, and learns to dance.
Thence, having quick thro' various countries flown, 5
Glean'd all their follies and expos'd his own,
He back returns, a thing so strange all o'er,
As never ages past produc'd before:
A monster of such complicated worth,
As no one single clime could e'er bring forth; 10
Half atheist, papist, gamester, bubble, rook,
Half fidler, coachman, dancer, groom and cook.
Next, because bus'ness is now all the vogue,
And who'd be quite polite must be a rogue,
In parliament he purchases a seat, 15
To make th' accomplish'd gentleman compleat.
There safe in self-sufficient impudence,
Without experience, honesty, or sense,
Unknowing in her int'rest, trade, or laws,
He vainly undertakes his country's cause: 20
Forth from his lips, prepar'd at all to rail,
Torrents of nonsense burst, like bottled ale,
Tho' shallow, muddy; brisk, tho' mighty dull;
Fierce without strength; o'erflowing, tho' not full.
Now quite a Frenchman in his garb and air, 25
His neck yok'd down with bag and solitaire,

70

And boldly, when his country is at stake,
Braves deep yawning gulph, like Curtius, for its sake.

Quickly again distress'd for want of coin,
He digs no longer in th' exhausted mine,
But seeks preferment, as the last resort, 75

Cringes each morn at levies, bows at court,
And, from the hand he hates, implores support:
The minister, well pleas'd at small expence
To silence so much rude impertinence,
With squeeze and whisper yields to his demands, 80

And on the venal list enroll'd he stands;
A ribband and a pension buy the slave,
This bribes the fool about him, that the knave.
And now arrived at his meridian glory,
He sinks apace, despis'd by Whig and Tory; 85

Of independence now he talks no more,
Nor shakes the senate with his patriot roar,
But silent votes, and, with court-trappings hung,
Eyes his own glittering star, and holds his tongue.
In craft a political a bankrupt made, 90

He sticks to gaming, as the surer trade;
Turns downright sharper, lives by sucking blood,
And grows, in short, the very thing he would:
Hunts out young heirs, who have their fortunes spent,
And lends them ready cash at cent per cent, 95

Lays wagers on his own, and others lives,
Fights uncles, fathers, grandmothers, and wives,
Till death at length, indignant to be made
The daily subject of his sport and trade,
Veils with his sable hand the wretch's eyes, 100

And, groaning for the betts he loses by, he dies.

NOTES:

Epigraph – Dire monster! in her broad oak woods/Fierce Daunia fosters none such other,/Nor Juba's land, of lion broods/The thirsty mother's (Horace Odes, Book 1.22, ll. 13-16).

1 pert – Sharp; clever; quick-witted (QED).

2 expert in taw In this context, a reference to playing marbles.
